

Shaping the world around us

125 years of creating the sustainable scenarios in which life happens

125 years existing in our surroundings

The FCC Group is commemorating a historic milestone this year: 125 years of history. Since its foundation in 1900, FCC has been involved in the life of cities and caring for people's well-being, as well as in the great moments of social transformation. It has consolidated its position as an international leader in environmental services, comprehensive water management and the development of infrastructures and concessions.
